Tony and Elizabeth Jordan have it all—great jobs, a beautiful daughter, and their dream house.

But appearances can be deceiving. Their world is actually crumbling under the strain of a failing marriage. But their lives take an unexpected turn when Elizabeth meets her newest client, Miss Clara, and is challenged to establish a “war room” and a battle plan of prayer for her family. As Elizabeth tries to fight for her family, Tony’s hidden struggles come to light. Tony must decide if he will make amends to his family and prove Miss Clara’s wisdom that victories don’t come by accident. Rated PG.

March 2016 Newsletter Vol. 47 No. 6

The Annie Armstrong Easter Offering (AAEO) was started in 1895 by Woman’s Missionary Union and in 1934 was named for Annie Walker Armstrong. Annie Armstrong was a passionate advocate for missionaries and their work. She championed missions involvement and gave personally and sacrificially of her time and talents to see the gospel go forward around the world.

The North American Mission Board (NAMB) is partnering with churches to send out missionaries to 32 Send Cities that have been selected from the U.S. and Canada. These missionaries will share with the lost and hurting in these cities the love, hope, joy and peace, which can only be found through a saving relationship with Jesus Christ with the lost and hurting in these cities. Our prayer and financial support is vital to the ministry of the missionaries who have answered the call to go and share the gospel of Jesus Christ.

Conference promises to be first hand report from the center of conflict

I am looking forward to this conference, ISIS, ISRAEL & THE END TIMES, March 4-6 with great anticipation! We hear so much information in the news about the Middle East, but Dr. John and Dee Cook work there. So this will be a first hand report right from the center of the conflict.

I have seen John’s heart for the church in this part of the world when I traveled to Egypt with John a few years ago. I watched a local pastor respond to a local Muslim who was threatening his life.

John and Dee have been in ministry in the Middle East, Asia and India for over 40 years. He is founder and CEO of Indigenous Ministries International. His background includes being a pastor in the U.S. for 26 years and being married for 38 years.

You will enjoy John and Dee. They speak with a dynamic realism which comes from seeing the truth in action in the middle of the conflict. You won’t want to miss this opportunity to hear their presentations.

Dear church family,

Greetings in the precious name of our Lord Jesus Christ. These past few weeks I have been preaching a series on some of the prophets in the Old Testament. These men of God, little known to most of us, were powerful preachers in their time. Each one ministered to “his own generation by the will God, [then] fell asleep” (Acts 13:36). For example, most of us are quite familiar with Rev. Billy Graham—the most famous preacher of the 20th century. But the teens only seem to know his son Franklin. Each generation is different.

Micah was the first prophet we examined. He served God in Judah, near Jerusalem. He prophesied that the Messiah would be born in Bethlehem (Micah 5:2). He's the one who said God will pardon our iniquity and "cast all (our) sins into the depths of the sea" (7:19). The key verse we looked at was Micah 6:8 "... What does the Lord require of you?—to act justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with your God." Our faith in God must be coupled with a changed life, that's what God really wants.

The 2nd prophet we studied was Hosea. He preached to rebellious Israel (in the north) at about the same time. God told him to marry an adulterous woman (Gomer) who would break his heart by going after her other lovers. God said this is what His people have done to Him by worshiping idols and departing from the one true God. In the end Hosea bought her out of the slave market and took her back (Hosea 3:2). In the same way God will forgive His repentant children when they return and seek the LORD in the last days (3:5).

Joel was the next prophet we looked at. He was the earliest of the minor prophets and probably knew Elijah. The theme of his short book is the Day of the Lord, a future day of judgment for sin.

Like all the prophets of the LORD, Joel calls people to repent and turn back to the Lord. Joel's key verse is 2:32, "everyone who calls on the name of the LORD will be saved." Paul quotes this in Romans 10:13. It has become the central verse of all of us who share the gospel to the uttermost parts of the earth.

We will look at a few other prophets in this brief study, but know that each one of them calls for repentance from sin and a return to the Lord. Every generation needs to hear this message. Today, more than ever, our world needs to respond to this invitation.

This is the message of the whole Bible. The writer of Hebrews puts it this way, “. . . Let us encourage one another—and all the more as you see the Day approaching” (10:25). The closer we get to the return of Christ, the more urgent this becomes! What particular sin is God's Holy Spirit speaking to you about? Will you repent and return to God? Each of us needs to deal with something. John says, "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just and will forgive us our sins and purify us from all unrighteousness" (1 John 1:9). The sacrifice of Christ on the cross is what makes our forgiveness possible. God requires our faith in Him. Salvation is a free gift of God to all who will believe. Now that we are part of His family, He expects us to act like it. Paul says, "For it is by grace you have been saved, through faith—and this is not from ourselves, it is the gift of God—not by works, so that no one can boast. For we are God's workmanship, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God prepared in advance for us to do" (Ephesians 2:8-10).

The message of the Old Testament prophets is the same in the New Testament. Two thousand years later the good news of the gospel has not changed. But each person in every generation must respond for him/herself.

March 4-6 is our spring prophecy conference with Dr. John Cook. Our theme verses are 2 Peter 3:11, 12, "You ought to live holy and godly lives as you look forward to the day of God and speed its coming." Prophecy has always pointed us to a holy God in control of earth's history who demands your faith and a changed life. I hope and pray that you will be able to attend and participate in all of the activities and services. Mrs. Dee Cook will be sharing with the ladies in the Saturday service (11am-1pm with pot luck supper) and Sunday School hour. We hope you will come with your whole family.

Your brother in Christ,

Pastor Steve

Editor's note:

The need is GREAT!

When you receive a prayer guide for the Annie Armstrong Easter Offering (bulletin insert for March 13), notice the facts in the first paragraph of Day 1: In Canada, only 27 percent of people are affiliated with an evangelical church. Nine out of 10 residents in the western states have no relationship with Christ. Even in the South—the so-called Bible Belt—two out of three residents are lost and living in darkness.

Consider these facts as you pray for and give to the Annie Armstrong Easter Offering.

Image of unborn baby was shocking—to some

Since last night (February 7, 2016/Super Bowl 50 Sunday) there hasn't been any shortage of responses to NARAL's (National Abortion and Reproductive Rights Action League) bizarre anti-scientific, anti-baby, and anti-human extremism.

But one of the best responses I've read comes from Dr. Robert George, a pro-life professor at Princeton University, who posted this on Facebook:

I gather that the really big news, as always, had to do with a commercial advertisement that was broadcast in the course of the game. Evidently, a potato chip manufacturer, or some such profit-driven purveyor of packaged foodstuffs, showed a video image of an unborn baby. This shocked and appalled the folks at NARAL, the big abortion lobby, who promptly accused the company responsible for the ad of "humanizing the fetus". Since, however, the fetus in the video was, by all accounts, a human fetus, the offspring of human parents, and not a bovine, canine, or feline fetus, it's less than clear how it is that the potato chip company (or whatever it was) is to blame for the humanization. Surely NARAL's complaint would be more fairly lodged against God, or nature, or plain old biological reality. Memo to NARAL: That's what an unborn baby actually looks like. Every couple who has ever had an ultrasound has watched their baby being "humanized" right in front of their eyes, which is why having an ultrasound is such a beautiful and moving experience. Nowadays, with crystal-clear "4D" ultrasounds, couples can watch their babies kick about, suck their thumbs, respond to noises in the room, move away from the doctor's or nurse's touch, etc.

RELATED: 'I saw little arms, little legs, and a head!': Mom leaves abortion clinic after seeing ultrasound. And that's why pro-life activists are working furiously to pass laws ensuring that women are given the opportunity to see an ultrasound of their babies before they go through with an abortion. It's called "informed consent." That means, telling a patient everything they need to know to make an informed decision before going through with an irrevocable medical procedure.

But pro-abortion groups like NARAL are fighting these commonsense laws tooth and nail. Why? Because they know what pro-lifers who work in crisis pregnancy centers have learned through long experience: when women see their baby in front of their eyes on an ultrasound, they are far, far less likely to go through with the abortion. And that means lost income for abortion clinics.

RELATED: UK (United Kingdom) parents reject abortion after seeing son smile on ultrasound.

That's why story after story has come out of women saying that even when they asked to see the ultrasound of their baby before their abortion at an abortion clinic, the staff at the clinic refused. Because feminism.

So, a question for abortion supporters out there: If your whole ideology has to be propped up on a stubborn denial of one of the most clearly proven scientific facts—i.e. the humanity of the human unborn child—what does that say about the value of your ideology? And if the only way you can get women to buy your product—abortion—is by lying to them, what does that say about your view of women?
